Is Pope Pius' Dire Prediction of His Death About to Come True?

When Pope Pius was chosen to succeed Pope Leo XIII, he called attention to the fact that the principal events in his life had transpired about nine years apart, and added, in effect: "I presume it will be nine years as Pope." The frequent week apiece, which he has suffered of late may be taken as an indication that his words are about to come true. He studied nine years in the seminary, was nine years vicar of Tomboli, nine years archbishop at Salzano, nine years canon at Treviso, nine years bishop of Mantua and nine years a patriarch at Venice, and on the 9th of this month he entered upon his ninth year as pontiff.

CONDUCTOR FINCH DIES FROM INJURIES RECEIVED FRIDAY

Was Badly Scalded in Explosion on Engine Last Evening.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 12.—Conductor Walter Finch, who was terribly scalded last evening in an explosion of Mogul locomotive, No. 904, of the Seaboard Air Line, five miles west of Raleigh, died at Rex Hospital at seven o'clock this morning. Engineer Steven Stogner and the colored fireman, Jno. Maxey, are improving steadily and will recover. A freight train had just left Johnston Street station here as No. 19, Raleigh to Hamlet, when the accident occurred. An inspection of the injured engine in the shops shows that the crown sheet blew out, turning volumes of steam into the fire box which emitted a mass of scalding steam to the cab where the three men were.

Collins bound the defendant over to the September term of Superior court under a bond of $500 which was promptly furnished by A. Wayland Cooke, attorney for the negro. The prosecution was conducted by Aubrey L. Brooks for the State. The testimony brought out against the man was circumstantial evidence given by various employees of Mr. Huffine, whose barn and crops the negro is charged with destroying by fire. John Clapp, also colored, is now in the county jail under a bond of $500 awaiting trial on the same charge.

TEXT BOOKS FOR STATE SCHOOLS AT LAST ADOPTED

Only Price of Arithmetics and Selection of Histories Remain Unsettled—Decision Reached Last Night—Number of Books Used at Present Readopted.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 12.—Except for the settlement of some minor question as to the price in the matter of arithmetics and the postponement for some time to come of the selection of history of the United States the state textbook commission has at last completed the adoption of textbooks to be used during the next five years in the public schools of the State. The adoptions were announced last evening in the presence of the full textbook commission and sub-commission and the bookmen assembled in the representatives hall. Knowing that the announcement was impending the bookmen had waited for quite a while in the Senate chamber across the state house corridor from where the commission was in session. They steadied their nerves and sought to cloak their deep anxiety with the singing of "There Is a Hole in the Bottom of the Sea" and "The Train is Coming Around the Bend, Goody Bookmen Goodby."

The following books were adopted for use in the elementary public schools for a period of five years from September 1, 1911:

PROGRAM FOR TOMORROW AT THE YEARLY MEETING

Number of Services will be Held—Thousands are Expected to be in Attendance Tomorrow—Reports on Extension Work Most Encouraging—Other Notes on Meeting.

Special to Telegram.

Guilford College, Aug. 12.—Tomorrow will be the big day of the Yearly Meeting and thousands are expected to be present at the various services held during the day. Not only are there an unusually large number of Friends from all parts of the State present on this occasion, but hundreds from the vicinity and all parts of the county will be in attendance.

The program of services for the day follow:

Memorial Hall—9:30 a. m. Bible school, J. Waldo Woody; 11 a. m. Charles Tebbetts and Albert Peele; 2 p. m. Brainy W. Kelsey and W. G. Hubbard; 8 p. m., Leandah Hobson and Enos Harvey.

Meeting House—8:30 a. m. Lizzie Bundy and Leannah Hobson; 9:30, Bible School, Clara I. Cox; 11 a. m., Mary Jane Weaver and James R. Jones; 2 p. m., Earl Harold and Milner Angel Cox; 8 p. m., Margaret Hackney and Milner Angel Cox.

Today's Sessions.

The sessions today began at 8:30 this morning, at which time simultaneous meetings were held, one for women and the other for men. The meeting for women was held in King Hall, being led by Mary Jane Weaver. She read a scriptural selection and then spoke in simple terms on how the women can make their homelife happier and more useful. The meeting for men was held in Memorial Hall and was addressed by Charles Tebbetts, who pointed out the fact that in all business avocations the men should go about their work as carefully and as prayerfully as ministers should in attending to their duties. The talk was decidedly uplifting.

The regular session began at ten o'clock. Rev. R. W. Kelsey read from the records of the Philadelphia Yearly Meeting in 1820, showing that three persons were appointed to "write a few lines to the North Carolina Yearly Meeting," which then was not in correspondence with any other Yearly Meeting.

The statistical report showed that the past year had been most encouraging and that the work was prospering in all parts of the State. The report on evangelistic work was then read, showing that its operations had been extended materially during the year just closed. This report was most interesting and gave an insight into the work being accomplished throughout the State of North Carolina by the Friends. The reports were given in detail, being prepared by Mary Woody Purdy, who was heartily thanked for the completeness of the reports. A collection was taken to press the work more vigorously during next year.

Session Last Night.

Last evening was given over to Christian Endeavor and a large audience assembled in Memorial Hall for the addresses and reports on the work by the young people of the Society of Friends in North Carolina. After the reading of a portion of Acts: 1 and the invocation there was a selection by a quartet, Herbert Reynolds, Eli Reese, J. H. Peele and Earl Harold. Miss Alice Ledbetter then gave a report on the National Christian Endeavor Convention recently held in Atlantic City. Rev. Earl Harold then spoke on "The New Enthusiasm." He said that one should have a deep look within, a far look ahead and a steady look above, if they are to accomplish the most good as they go through life. The young people should look within themselves and decide as to the work they are best fitted to do and then look ahead with discerning eyes and always look above in prayer and faith and call for gifts from God. The sermon was an inspiration to all who heard it, especially to the young people.

Foreign Missions. The foreign mission reports made yesterday show more money raised for this work than ever before and, although this yearly meeting is at the bottom of the column in amount of money contributed, it proposes to double its contribution the coming year. Today one young woman, Miss Margaret Peele, the daughter of Albert Peele and Mary Peele, both ministers, announced her readiness to go to the foreign field. The large congregation was much affected when the young woman stated that she wished to go to Africa.

Rev. Charles E. Tebbetts delivered a stirring address on foreign missions. In his address he showed how the great nation of China, with 400,000,000 people, is changing her form of government to a constitutional government and educating her children in western ideas, literary, agricultural and mechanical. Similar conditions, the speaker showed, exist in the Mohammedan countries and these people, with their large increase of power, are seeking to strengthen and propagate their religion in opposition to all other religions. This shows the great need of prompt missionary work in the name of the Christian's God.

WAGON YARD WOULD BE A GOOD INVESTMENT FOR CITY.

While Greensboro has passed the stage of growth when it is proper for horses to be hitched on the principal streets and for feed racks and assorted vehicles to be left standing on the chief thoroughfares, the city has not by any means outgrown the need of keeping in touch with the farmers and affording them every possible facility and convenience for taking care of their stock and making their stay pleasant when they come to town. Greensboro needs to keep in touch with the people of the country districts and the people of neighboring villages and towns. This city needs the business of these people, and when it can be made mutually agreeable and profitable to do business with them, they should be encouraged to come here to trade and to transact their business. We do not believe there is any desire on the part of anybody in this city to bar the country people from the freedom of the city, but they must be clearly made to understand that this is true. In addition it should be impressed upon them that Greensboro not only desires them to visit the city and do business here, but proposes to afford them facilities and conveniences for use when they visit the city.

The Telegram does not believe that hitching racks should adorn the main streets, that cattle should be stalled and horses fed on the principal thoroughfares. We believe that what is commonly known as a hitching lot is a nuisance to countrymen as well as an eyesore to city people. All of these things have passed, or should pass. They may be all right in a village or a very small town, but they do not comport with the management of the affairs of a city. The country people understand this. We do not believe they want to hitch their horses or leave their wagons standing on Elm street, or other leading thoroughfares. It will be possible for the city officials and the country people to reach an amicable adjustment of such matters and one which will satisfy all. However the Telegram believes that while this is true, it would be good policy—in fact, a paying business proposition—for the city to provide a first class wagon yard for the free use of country people who visit the city. There are cities as large or larger than Greensboro, where it is thought worth while to do this. An up-to-date wagon yard for this purpose would contain stables for housing horses and stock, sheds for vehicles, a place where articles could be checked and safely kept for their owners, and would be in charge of one or more attendants who would give their time to attending to the wants of those who visited the place.

The principal problem in securing a place of this kind in the city would doubtless be the matter of securing the necessary vacant lots. That done, the place securely fenced and kept in sanitary condition, it would be in no sense a nuisance and would not be more objectionable in any respect than a livery stable. Such a place should be centrally located, in order that country people coming from all directions could reach it by driving to the heart of the city. The old auditorium, had it not been sold, would have proven an ideal site and building for this purpose. After the building is removed the lot might be used for the purpose.

The Telegram makes these suggestions as a means of helping the city officials carry out plans to beautify the city and to keep it in sanitary condition and at the same time enable Greensboro to demonstrate to the country people that their presence and patronage is appreciated here, and that when they visit the city facilities for caring for their stock and vehicles will be afforded, as an evidence of appreciation. Greensboro needs all the business that can be secured from the surrounding country within the greatest possible radius. The city should invite the people here, offer them inducements to come and to trade here, and provide for the comfort of those who come in vehicles. In the case of those who come by rail it is different. The man who comes with his wagon or other vehicle must find a place to leave it for a while, together with his horse or other animals. If the hitching lots and old wagon yards are closed, where will the countryman find the necessary facilities for caring for his vehicle and stock? The answer may be, "at a livery stable." Accommodations of this kind can always be had at the livery stables, it is true, but many countrymen will not go to the livery stable; and if they have difficulty in this case a few times in coming to Greensboro, they may transfer their trade to another town or city where more attention is given to the welfare of the country visitor.

This matter is undoubtedly one worth the consideration of the merchants of the city, as their business will be most affected by the results, whether they are good or bad. As The Telegram sees it, it is good policy to offer the country people every possible inducement and encouragement to continue to come here to trade, and in increasing numbers.

THE BACK HOME MOVEMENT AGAIN.

Recently the Charlotte Observer roared the "back home" movement, as it is called, which originated in Johnson City, Tenn., and has as its object to induce people who have removed from the South to other sections of the country to return to their native States. The Observer was, The Telegram thought, unreasonably severe in its denunciation of the movement. However, this paper approved of the Charlotte paper's views that the last lasting good is likely to result from the movement. As far as we are aware nothing criminal is being attempted by those who originated and have maintained the movement and it is a genuine effort to advertise the South effectively. The ultimate good which may be accomplished by the plan is yet to develop. A view radically different to that of the Charlotte Observer is the view of the Spartanburg Herald, which comes forward to champion the "back home" movement, saying:

The Charlotte Observer recently attacked the "Back Home" idea, declaring it to be a lot of hot air, or words to that effect, and a visionary scheme by which the newspapers had been "worked" for a lot of free advertising. The Johnson City Staff, a paper published in a town that was the home of the idea, and which got more publicity out of the discussion of the plan than it would have gotten in any other way in 50 years, reproduces with delight the Charlotte paper's editorial.

As a matter of fact, the "Back Home" idea is in the nature of the case but a slogan. It is a catchline, of course, but a good one, and has served to call attention to the South—to attract attention and to create talk, which is one of the first essentials in a successful advertising campaign. Few have expected the cry of "Back Home" to cause people to desert their homes in the West and come hurrying to the South. No intelligent person has expected that, but all who have noticed the general line of publicity that the idea has received through the best papers in the country—including the big papers of Chicago—have proof before them that there was enough in the "Back Home" idea to get for the South a class of publicity that it could not have purchased.

We all know that every little bit helps and why an idea that is doing much to create talk about the South and could not possibly do any harm should be seriously attacked by Southern newspapers is beyond our understanding.

It is evident that there is good timber in the Democratic party when it can point to such men as Underwood and Woodrow.

No matter who runs for President of Mexico, if he is elected, later he will act wisely in running from the country while the running is good.

They say Woodrow Wilson is being "Bryanized," but it is a safe wager, that he will be Bryanized nor Lorimerized nor Baileyized nor Morganized nor treated in any of the other ways so popular among crafty politicians and demagogues and time servers of the country.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley is a Republican, but it is a noticeable fact that this does not deter Democrats who believe in the square deal from standing by him and giving him due credit for his efforts in behalf of the people.

Nevertheless, the Charlotte Observer need not lose any sleep over the effectiveness of the "back home" movement. But few of those who have left Charlotte will be found anxious to return.

BUSINESS TELEGRAMS

One of today's want advertisers was writing to you when he prepared his copy. He may deserve a reply.

Of course that boarding house or furnished room may not be quite the one for you—but answer the ad and find out!

Does your landlord imagine you are working for him almost exclusively? It might be well to watch the ads with the advisability of "moving" in mind.

Someone, today—someone who reads and answers real estate ads—will make a "fortunate" investment in real estate, earning a "lucky" profit within, perhaps, a few months.

A couple of hours devoted to reading and answering want ads might enable you to save a dollar a week on your room rent—and there are 52 weeks in a "furnished room year."

More people have come to pleasant and profitable "turning points" in their lives through having answered classified ads than through all other circumstances combined. Do you want to arrive at a "turning point" pretty soon?

If you never secure a place to room and board except through answering classified ads, you'll be sure of not having missed anything "to speak of."

This is what classified ad answers will call an "interesting issue" of this newspaper.

Learning to select the worth-answering want ads is learning practical life in this town!

Any "probable" or "likely-looking" ad of a servant seeking a place is "worth answering"—if you have need of a servant. For the household help need is one of those urging and urgent needs, and even a chance to find a nearly-satisfactory servant is a chance not to be overlooked or be-littled!

The Book Agent's Tongue.

The selection of the State text-books every five years is the period of activity among the big companies. Few of the citizens who have to buy books for their children ever realize the fight put up by the big book companies of the country for this big plum, but those who watch them in their work soon realize that they are all mighty smooth artists, and the incidents of the last few days make some inside information regarding the book agents, and the people they employ and use, of special interest to the reading public. To average person usually thinks the book agent is the only person interested, or rather the only one to represent the book company which is seeking the adoption of its books. But to be around Raleigh for three months prior to the adoption will convince one very quickly that a lot of prominent and influential people have more than an ordinary interest in something. For the past three months it has been impossible to throw a rock in Raleigh and not hit one or more of these prominent people, who will say, if you ask them why they are here, "Oh, just on a little business." The book people have a vocabulary all their own under which they work, and these names are mighty interesting, especially when you take in consideration the people who they employ, and the amount paid these people for their influence, and, sometimes for their work. But to the names.

Kibo.

A Kibo is just an ordinary book agent or representative of the company, as he would call himself. He is usually a very smooth gentleman, who arrives in Raleigh three months before the adoption of the books. It is his business to lay out the plans for his company and keep his ears to the ground. He locates the politicians over the State that can be of value, as "influence," and connects up with them and then he keeps his hand on the throttle.

Kibosh.

A Kibosh is a local attorney or person of influence employed to represent the company. Many of the most prominent lawyers in Raleigh and the State (some big politicians) are Kiboshes, and if their books are adopted they receive $1,500 from their company. If their books are not adopted they receive only $250 for their services. So it is seen that the more influential they become the more it is worth.

Kivobine.

A Kivobine is a lady book agent, and some of the smoothest in the business are ladies. Some of the companies prefer to have Kivobines, as they are sometimes very influential. A Kibo and a Kivobine have the same standing and look after the adoption of the company's books.

Kibovino.

A Kibovino is some local woman of influence, who is employed to do practically the same kind of work as the Kibosh. She is not an attorney but she uses her influence and works in many ways her wonders to perform.

Pussey Foot.

A Pussey Foot is the local character of influence quietly seeking information, but having no visible connection with the book company. He or she, as the case

THE EVOLUTION OF RETAIL ADVERTISING

Recently, before the Rochester (N. Y.) Advertising Club, Julius Schneider, for some time advertising manager of "The Fair," of Chicago, and one of the best known retail advertising men in the country, gave a lecture on "The Next Evolution in Advertising." He stated that, in his opinion, this was the awakening of local advertisers to the absolute necessity for high grade advertising service such as had made fortunes for the large stores in the big cities. He advised the merchants in each locality to join forces and engage the best advertising talent on a co-operative basis, and pointed out that this really must happen in a very short period as a natural advance of the times.

Mr. Schneider and others, evidently do not know that this evolution towards high grade special service has been taking place for some time. It began with what are called "Cut Services." That is, an engraving house in one of the bigger cities would get out a number of more or less comic advertising cuts, wretchedly drawn by a tenth-rate artist, which it sold to a retailer, sometimes with a little advertising matter, in a series of 26 or 52, one cut for each week in the year. While this was all educative, and as such deserves some credit, it has probably done more harm amongst retailers to the value of real publicity than anything else.

There are a great many of my readers who now have boxes of these cuts lying around their stores with no clear idea of what to do with them, and even yet those small cut "services" are being sold to deluded merchants by glib traveling salesmen.

Another herald of the new special retail advertising was the local writer. He is also evolving. He has been getting better every year, till now, in some ways, he is quite accomplished. In the majority of cases, however, the local ad writer has been somewhat like "Our Johnnie," who has won a prize for drawing big fish! and who forthwith blossoms out into a famous artist—locally. This class of publicity has likewise done its share in giving the retail merchant cold feet. The local advertisement writer has been mostly a shining example of the trite saying "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing."

The next phase in the evolution was one that bid fair to solve all difficulties. About a year or two ago a famous artist who had made a reputation for a comic series of newspaper pictures, was induced to draw his comics into advertisements. These were syndicated in electrolyte form all through the United States and Canada to all classes of retailers, the large quantity sold of each electrolyte making it possible to quote extremely low prices to the local merchants. That was the next rise in grade from the old comic cuts of the local engravers, because these drawings were well done by first-class artists of acknowledged standing.

We have now advanced one step further. The idea that it is necessary to may be, is some person of big influence, such as a college professor, or big politician, or member of the Legislature, and it is their business to stay right close to the situation, or in other words, shadow the people who will make the selection of books. If they go across the State or to a picnic, they are joined by this Pussey Foot and picked for all the information possible. The Pussey Foot then quietly reports this to the Kibo. It is noticeable that the Pussey Foot never is known to or has anything to do directly with the book company. They simply play the shadow, and after it is all over, they draw their pay. It would be interesting to know the Pussey Foots (or Pussey Feets) in this State.

Rinakaboo.

When the big selection draws near the end, if something goes wrong, or there is any big fight on hand, then the big Rinakaboo comes to the field. He is the president or manager of the book company and in the last stages of the fight for the adoption he comes in charge to direct the work of the Kibo, Kibosh, Kivobine, Kibovino, and the Pussey Foot. And thus it is that the big book companies come to blows for the big five-year contract to furnish books for the common schools of the State—Raleigh Times.

But women make fools only of men who supply the material.

have a comic drawing to attract attention is exploded. As a matter of fact, a comic cut does more harm to the advertisement than good, for it makes the whole advertisement laughable and when people laugh at a thing they seldom buy it. It is unfortunate that many merchants do not realize this even now. A good joke in picture form still appears to many of them to be the acme of successful publicity. But they are learning.

There are now one or two concerns who, with strong financial backing supply retail merchants with advertisements, illustrated by the best artists and written by advertising experts who have specially dedicated themselves to the work and who are paid large salaries for their services. The advertisements supplied by these firms are of the same grade as those used by the large national advertisers; they are scientifically correct and are guaranteed to bring the retailer the maximum of returns. They are supplied to the local merchant with the sole right of use in his own locality.

Owing to the enormous number sold of each advertisement, they can be purchased at a nominal cost, even as low as one dollar per week. If the merchant wanted to have the same ads written for his individual use, they would cost him about $300 each. The sale of this new style of up-to-date advertising is growing enormously. It is being used in thousands of towns throughout the country and there are about 150 high grade salesmen selling it daily.

The nature of this new up-to-date advertising service will be seen by the reduced face similes of advertisements at the top of this column.

This new style of advertising is called Syndicated Advertising Service, and its development is the latest evolution of retail publicity.

The local retailer has seldom the ability to write salesmanship for his newspaper space. It requires special training to write advertisements that sell goods, just as it necessitates training to practice law or medicine.

When your body is sick you do not try to cure yourself, you take medical advice and apply the treatment that is given you by the trained physician. If you are wise, you apply the same principle to your sick business, you use the medicine—successful salesmanship in your local newspaper—prescribed for you by the advertising expert.

The highest grade of expert publicity service in this country today is embodied in this new syndicated advertising service. High priced men with national reputation in the retail advertising field are constructing these advertisements, and the merchant who uses them persistently and constantly in his local newspaper, is a long way on the road to financial independence.

Full particulars of this new syndicated advertising will be supplied by the business manager of The Telegram. Get them today. Their application will materially increase your business and give your newspaper space 100 per cent value as a business puller.

Hundreds of Greensboro Readers Know What It Means.

The Kidneys are overtaxed; Have too much to do. They tell about it in many aches and pains—Backache, hip pains, headache. Early symptoms of kidney ills. Urinary troubles, drowsy, Bright's disease follow.

The statement below shows you what to do.

Mrs. Arthur Causey, Jerusalem St., Randleman, N. C., says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and found them excellent in every way. Backache clung to me a long time and made it difficult for me to stoop. I could not remain on my feet for any length of time and often I became so dizzy that I had to catch hold of something to keep from falling. The kidney secretions annoyed me and showed that my kidneys were disordered. When a friend strongly urged me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I did so and I was soon entirely rid of kidney complaint."

NATURE SPARES

The Stricken Rose From Grief.
What a fortunate provision of nature it is, that deprives the rose of mental suffering; for how poignant would be its grief to discover, in the height of its blooming glory, that a canker fed at its heart, and that its beauty and fragrance were doomed forever. Nature always spares the suffering; she is a veritable store-house of pleasing rewards, for those who seek her aid. In the years gone by falling hair and grayness have cast a gloom over the lives of thousands of young women, but thanks to the investigations of scientists the true cause of hair destruction is now known to be a germ or parasite that burrows into the hair follicles. Newbro's Herpicide absolutely destroys this germ, thus permitting the hair to grow as nature intended. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample To The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

A Word About Law Enforcement.

Readers of the Virginian will remember that we have several times maintained that the enforcement of law depended upon the diligence and faithfulness of the authorities, who are paid and sworn to enforce the law. We are in no disposition to give up the contention. This article is designed to furnish additional demonstration of the truth of the proposition.

The usual plea of authorities, where law is not enforced, is that public sentiment is not sufficient for such enforcement. This is bally rot. Law is law, regardless of public sentiment. The plain and unescapable duty of officials is to vindicate their oaths in the enforcement of law, regardless of public opinion. The appeal to public sentiment as an excuse ordinarily means, not that the authorities haven't the power to enforce, but that they please to make concessions in enforcement to what they interpret as public sentiment. And their interpretation of public sentiment is usually forgetful of the quiet citizens who mind their own business and stay at home, but recognize the will and the wishes of the minority who desire that certain laws shall not be enforced. Give these thoughts consideration and they will commend themselves as true. Law can be enforced. It should be enforced. If the law is an unjust law it ought to be repealed. If the officials are incompetent or unfaithful they should be recalled.

The whole subject finds new suggestion by recent occurrences in Buffalo, New York. It seems that the law demanding the Sunday closing of saloons found little support by the police. Saloons ran wide open. Citizens made complaint. But somehow the officials could never find evidence of violation and their hands were powerless to enforce the law. Perhaps the public sentiment among those who wanted their Sunday booze was too great to permit the literal enforcement of a law to close the saloons on the Sabbath day.

A new police commissioner appeared on the scene. His conception of obligation seems somewhat out of the ordinary. He says that the people of Buffalo are paying him a salary to see that laws are enforced, and he proposes to do it. Moreover, he seems to feel that the complaint of a citizen concerning lax administration is about as indicative of public opinion as the wish of the saloonkeeper to sell and the desire of the thirsty to buy.

Having somehow gotten hold of these antiquated notions, he wrote a letter to the chief of police, in which he advised him to put on the lid. The chief got busy and issued orders to his captains, and through them the word was passed to the men. The result was that the next Sunday in Buffalo was a dry one.

License and law will not regulate when officials determine that it shall not. Neither will law prohibit when authorities would prefer that it should not. But when the officials charged with the proper responsibility and sworn to a certain activity so decree, the law does regulate and the law does prohibit with equal force.

When the law fails, search for the source of its failure and in the majority of instances you will finally come across some man or men in authority who do not desire it to be effective and have so passed the word. This case in Buffalo, recent occurrences around Baltimore, in Roanoke and in Portsmouth—all certify that law may be effective or otherwise as determined by the administrators of it. They further suggest that at the proper time, when public indignation puts a spur in official laxity, indifferent and inactive authorities can get mighty busy and can produce very creditable results.—Richmond Virginian.

NEWLANDS INQUIRY INTO CORPORATIONS WILL BE IMPORTANT

Special to Telegram.

(By VICTOR ELLIOTT.)

Washington, Aug. 12.—There will be begun in this city on November 15 one of the most important investigations into corporation matters undertaken by Congress in many years. Under the Newlands resolution the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce will begin to hold hearings on that date. The Newlands resolution contemplates a thorough inquiry into the question of how to deal with the country's great industrial corporations. It is preliminary to an effort to work out a better method of corporation regulation than the country now has.

It was by a close vote in the committee that it was decided to have the hearings begun before the opening of the next session of Congress. Senator Cummins first moved to begin hearings October 15. As a substitute, Senator Watson of West Virginia, moved to begin them on November 15. The regular Republicans in the committee opposed this date as well as a November date, and wanted the inquiry put off until the next session of Congress. Holding that to defer action until the regular session begins would make a thorough inquiry impossible, the rest of the committee would not assent to this view. By a vote of six to five the Watson amendment was adopted. Those Senators who opposed investigating until the regular session of Congress opens in December were Messrs. Crane, Oliver, Lippitt, Brandegee and Townsend.

It is expected this investigation is going to lay the lines for consideration of the tremendous question of corporation control by Congress.

Two important phases of the matter will present themselves to the committee at the outset. They relate to the method the government is going to take to bring about regulation. Is the government going to try to have corporation run off competitive lines? Will it proceed on the theory that competition is obsolete, and that there must be combination, with federal authority exercising strict regulation, perhaps going to the point of fixing prices? The committee will have to pass on these phases of the problem and decide which route to regulation it is going to take.

Good reason exists for the belief that the committee is not going to abandon the plan that competition must be preserved. A majority of the committee will probably refuse to accede to the position taken by such men as Judge Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, that the time has come when the government must step in and regulate the corporations, as the Interstate Commerce Commission regulates railroads, even fixing prices.

If the committee adheres to the competitive theory, then it will probably follow that the Sherman anti-trust law will be made more drastic. The sentences for individual offenders will probably be made mandatory in corporation prosecution.

In a number of large suits successfully prosecuted by the Department of Justice only fines were imposed by the courts for violating the Sherman law. In the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trust cases no fines were paid nor any individual criminally prosecuted. In the "Bath tub trust" prosecution, (a concern capitalized at $25,000,000), fines were asked for. In the case against the steel wire trust when a number of very prominent financiers were arraigned on a charge of violating the Sherman anti-trust law, only fines were imposed for openly defying the law for more than a year.

It is probable that the committee will make the Sherman law more drastic following the suggestion made by Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who, when he first became prominent in the public eye as chief "trust buster" of the Department of Justice, said that the Sherman law was not strong enough to reach out and get the criminals "higher up." Upon his advent into the Senate the first legislation proposed by the Senator from the middle West was a stronger anti-trust law. He spoke in the Senate about the evils of corporate greed, and a number of other things of that nature. His bill was sent to the musty shelves of a committee, where it stayed for several weeks. Nothing was ever done with it. Senator Kenyon in a speech in the Senate asked what had become of it and learning that nothing had been done recalled his resolution.

So the matter now comes up again through the Interstate Commerce Committee, and the Newlands resolution contains some of the provisions sought in the bill which was introduced by Senator Kenyon.

Senator Cummins, who has been urging the investigation, has a bill which will limit capitalization and which will

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its consequent indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength. When a man "doesn't feel just right," when he doesn't sleep well, has an uncomfortable feeling in the stomach after eating, is languid, nervous, irritable and despondent, he is losing the nutrition needed to make strength.

Such a man should use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enriches the blood, invigorates the liver, strengthens the kidneys, nourishes the nerves, and so GIVES HEALTH AND STRENGTH TO THE WHOLE BODY.

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic medicine of known composition, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit. Ingredients printed on wrapper.

SEEKING TREASURE IN SAND.

Finding of Small Amount of Coin Starts Much Digging.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 12.—Hundreds of persons living in the section about Grubb's Landing are digging industriously in the sands of the Delaware river in search of a supposed hidden treasure. This is due to the fact that of late coins and other objects have been found in the sand. On Sunday William Butz, of this city, found four silver dollars and smaller coins, totaling $6.20. Four weeks ago Harry Leshar of Philadelphia, found three silver dollars near the same spot. Henry Hinger also found a rusty revolver nearby.

The site was occupied by a cabin many years ago in which lived James Grubb, who is believed to have been wealthy.

Harper is the manager of an iron and steel commission firm. His wife is the firm, having taken it over from her son. Harper said he received no salary, that Mrs. Harper supported the household, and that they each spend about 15 cents a day and pay $76 a month for their apartment. Harper owes judgements for $2,774, which he says he is unable to pay.

"What right have you to give away your services and take away the benefits from your creditors?" was asked.

Country With Only One Bank. There are no public banking institutions in the Dominican republic, and but one private bank with agencies in the most important towns, which buys and sells drafts, makes loans, and is the repository of the government funds. Buying and selling drafts is an important source of revenue to this bank and also to many private individuals. Money is easily placed at almost any time at 1½ per cent. a month, and sometimes at 2 and 2½ per cent, with first-class real estate or personal security. Long time loans of large amounts are placed at 12 per cent. per annum. Municipalities, borrowing money for improvements and other purposes, pay one per cent. a month. It is not a great banking country. Most of the well-to-do people, both among the merchants and farmers, never think of depositing their money, but have small private safes or secrete their hoardings in some other manner.

Tribe of Canoe Indians.

The North Pacific coast Indians are a fishing people. The homes of the Haida tribe are largely among islands and the canoe is their chief means of transportation and in it much of their lives is spent. The red cedars of Queen Charlotte's islands produce logs from which are made huge canoes, sometimes from 45 to 60 feet in length. The Haida are master craftsmen since there is no other type of dugout canoe so light, graceful and seaworthy as this one they construct.

In Haida canoe building, the outside contour is first hewn and carved. Wooden planks are driven through the outer surface to indicate the varying thickness of the walls of the canoe, and the interior is dug out to the depths thus fixed. The spread of the beam is attained by steaming the wood. The canoe is partly filled with water into which red hot stones are dropped producing steam, which softens the wood. The sides are forced out by wedges which are afterward replaced by permanent seats. Beds of hot embers are kept near the canoes to dry the outer surface.—American Museum Journal.

O, You Suburban Life!

She was riding home in the suburban hack and her whole conversation had been in monotony of the country life in general and in Swarthmore in particular.

"I think," she told the man opposite, "that I shall have to do something exciting just to stir things up—I mean something real shocking."
"Do," she smiled, encouragingly, "and my wife will give a bridge and ask all the women who will be likely to discuss it."
And the air became cooler.—Philadelphia Times.

NOW IS DAY OF POOR

NEVER BEFORE COULD THEY GET SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE.

Long Street Car Rides, Free Parks, Low Postage and Phone Rates and Great Public Libraries Are There.

Disciples of unrest would have the world believe that this is the day of the rich; whereas, on the contrary, never in the history of the United States have the poor and those persons of restricted means been enabled to procure so much for so little.

The rich may speed in their automobiles, but for five cents the poor may ride royally from one side of a city like Chicago to the other, or to be carried miles into the country. What an improvement over the days of our forefathers, when it was either own your own private conveyance, or else journey by foot or in the expensive stage.

The rich may seclude themselves in spacious villas and country places, but the country place of the poor is provided, absolutely free of expense to them, in extensive parks where grass, trees, fountains and music, flowers and statuary, are theirs to enjoy as if created by their pocketbooks.

For 2 cents a letter may be sent a distance which once would have demanded 25 cents. To the address of the poor as well as to the hall of the rich the carrier delivers the mail, and for the farmer whose labor will not permit him to go to town there is the rural service.

For 5 cents the poor man may talk over the telephone as far as the rich man; and into the cottage as into the mansion has been extended the electric light, at a reasonable rate.

Grand opera comes high, to be sure; but what does that matter when many, many amusement gardens, as well as the public parks, charge no admission fee to their concert?

The rich may have their private libraries; but much larger libraries, of literature as choice or choicer, are open in cities and even in villages to the knock of the common people. It is not the day of the rich; it is the day of the poor, wherein especial attention is being paid to the person not with much, but with little, to spend.—Edwin L. Sabin, in Lippincott's.

Here's Newest Beauty Wrinkle.

The old nursery of "Beauty and the Beast" has just been revived by the fashionable beauties of Paris in a way calculated to accentuate their charms. They are surrounding themselves with the ugliest, malodorous, and most hideous pets imaginable. One celebrated beauty, Mile. Manon Loti, has engaged a dwarf who is described as having "a tremendous head, a malevolent expression and hardly any legs," and Mile. Loti takes him out walking with her every afternoon in order that his ugliness will emphasize her own beauty all the more.

Mile. Mistinguette, the dancer, has engaged as maid a Hindu woman with ringed ears and a face which is by no means attractive. Other beauties are selecting equally unattractive folks, and the fashion is said to be spreading just as rapidly as ugly servants and pets can be found.

Why the Kansas Woman Got Mad.

A farmer's wife hitched her horse in front of a store on Sixth avenue one day last week and went about her business. A hurry up order came to the merchant and he told one of his clerks to appropriate the horse and buggy for the delivery.

The youth hopped into the rig and started up the street "lickety split." Just then the farmer's wife spied the departing buggy and with thoughts of horse thief uppermost in her mind trailed the buggy, screaming madly as she went. Her yells sufficed to organize an impromptu posse and a rider on a wheel overtook the driver as he was getting rid of the hurry up butter and codfish. Fully half as many words as were widely flung in Emporia's famed street car struggle were necessary to explain the situation to the irate farmer's spouse.—Emporia Gazette.

"76,963."

Purchasers of automobiles establish an etiquette of their own," said the city salesman. "Last week I received an envelope containing the visiting card of a friend on which had been inscribed 76,963, or some such imposing number."

"I was mystified. I could not imagine what it meant. Had my friend been convicted of crime, I thought, and had he chosen that delicate way of apprising me of his prison number?"

"Inquiry revealed that my friend was not a criminal. That card meant that he had bought a new automobile and was notifying everybody of his license number."

"Pride of possession alone impelled him to do it. Since his friends are not traffic policemen his license number can never benefit them in the least, but this summer that seems the most approved way of letting people know that you have bought a new machine."

Travel Made Shorter.

The journey from Paris to Tokio soon will be shortened from fifteen to less than twelve days by the completion of a new railroad in Manchuria.

WOMEN'S NOTE

Queen Mary is very particular in regard to the gowning of those in her immediate entourage, neatness and quite good taste being the requirements among her ladies-in-waiting and the youthful maids of honor.

Among other regulations issued as royal command to the latter young ladies were certain minute details, says the Gentlewoman, more especially as regards their morning and afternoon attire when in waiting on her majesty.

Queen Mary has a dislike, for instance, to the blouse or costume being cut low in the neck, and she permits only the neat high collar or lace for morning or afternoon toilets.

The queen, too, has commanded that when in waiting her maids shall each wear another mode somewhat in favor with many young girls at the moment, the wearing of short elbow sleeves.

In some recent photographs published of one or other of the queen's maids of honor, those with their neat morning gowns, the sleeves appear finishing closely up to the wrist. The queen has also signified her liking for the neat, small toque in preference to the wide-brimmed, fashionable hat with its towering plumes.

Mrs. Russell Sage is one of the richest women in the world, and intends to devote her entire fortune to the benefit of humanity. She was born at Syracuse, N. Y., in 1828, in somewhat humble circumstances, and when she married Mr. Sage nearly thirty years later, the millionaire and her husband were quite poor. "We were not poverty-stricken," says she, "but just able to keep the wolf from the door."

In the first three years of her widowhood she is said to have disposed of twenty-five million dollars, and although she employs an army of secretaries to deal with the hundreds of begging letters received every day, she lives in simple style at Fifth avenue, New York, with three servants, all nearly as old as their mistress.

Her greatest pleasures are derived from her love of flowers and her pet birds, and her chief aversion is to bacoon. Some time ago she resigned from the Society of Mayflower Descendants, because the men smoked at the annual banquet, in spite of her protests.

THE ENGAGEMENT RING

The engagement ring is worn after an engagement is announced, and is in best taste when it contains only a single stone. This may be a diamond, ruby, emerald or sapphire, according to individual preference and the circumstances of the prospective husband; and no girl of wisdom and taste will expect or accept from her lover an engagement ring which, in intrinsic value, is beyond his means.

The third finger of the left hand is the one on which both the engagement ring and the wedding ring are worn. The wedding ring is always the same—a band of gold—not too heavy, but sufficiently so to last a lifetime. The round edge is preferred, because it is more comfortable to wear. The initials of both persons and the date are usually engraved in the engagement ring. The date of marriage and initials of the contracting parties are engraved in the wedding ring.

It is very bad taste to wear an engagement ring, or indeed, any other ring, on the first finger, the third and fourth alone being the ring fingers. The engagement ring remains on the third finger of the left hand until just before the marriage ceremony, when it should be transferred to the corresponding finger of the right hand, the wedding ring taking its place on the left hand.

If an engagement bracelet is presented, it is worn on the left wrist; but as this form of betrothal was merely a passing fad, the girl of the present will hardly care to adopt it, since the bracelet is more or less subject to fashion; but a ring can always be worn. A pretty foreign custom is to choose a plain gold ring for the emblem of betrothal, and to use it also for the wedding ring, the dates of betrothal and marriage being made inside, and a jeweled ring worn above it as a guard after marriage.

A strict rule is that, with the exception of flowers and bouquets, a girl may not accept from her fiancé gifts which may not be returned unharmed should the engagement be broken. When an engagement is broken it is supposed to be because the persons have discovered their lack of congeniality. All gifts and letters should be returned on both sides. It is the duty of the mother of the young girl to announce to friends the fact that the engagement is at an end.

Another Novel Wedding "Joke."

When a man employed in the railroad shops of Altoona, Pa., marries, his fellow-employees have a practice of tying to him as many tin cans as he can carry and following him all the way home, beating the cans with sticks. The ordeal requires more courage than standing before the minister and should make a man think twice before caring to repeat the experiment.—Springfield Republican.

In Municipal Court.

In Municipal court this morning H. L. Turner was convicted of being drunk and down and was punished by the judge to the extent of the usual $7.50 and the costs.

Toy Martin, a small negro girl, was tried for the larceny of money from her employer but the court found her not guilty, aided in his verdict by compassion for the youth and temptation of the offender and thinking that a sentence in the workhouse among the worst criminals might sow deeper the inborn desire that causes theft, Judge Euse dismissed the girl from the court.

Norton Summers, the negro youth who last Wednesday was fined $100 for seriously cutting Joe Powell, plead his inability to pay the fine and this was changed to a sentence of four months on the city streets with the privilege of paying the fine at any time and receiving $25 a month credit for his work.

Six defendants arraigned earlier in the week for failure to comply with the ordinance against keeping hogs within a quarter of a mile of the city limits were discharged on a nol prois, which was made on account of the repeal of the ordinance until Dec. 31st.

DIVORCED EARL GETS

PARDON FROM LORDS

London, Aug. 12.—In the house of lords yesterday the lord chancellor stated that a free pardon had been granted to the earl of Russell in respect to the felony recorded against him in 1901. It will be remembered that the proceedings were taken against the earl early after his marriage with Mollie Cooke in the United States.

Thanksgiving Day Fixed.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Responding to appeals from theatrical agents, football players and others, the White House has definitely announced that the last Thursday in November—the 30th—would be proclaimed Thanksgiving Day by President Taft.

Queries have been coming in for some time on the exact date, caused by the fact that there are five Thursdays in November this year.

Local option is to be the platform of all the candidates, to all appearances. Letters were received yesterday by Mr. Ledman from five of the aspirants for the House of Delegates—Colonel John S. Harwood, W. A. Crenshaw, John A. Curtis, I. W. Throckmorton and James J. Creamer. Those published yesterday morning were from D. L. Toney and Edwin P. Cox. A letter has also been printed from Senator E. C. Folkes, who has no opposition, which is also the situation of Senator A. C. Harman, who has not framed his reply, but whose record shows that he is also a local optionist.

Pebble Gathering in Normandy.

The pebble industry is making rapid progress and is assuming considerable importance in upper Normandy. The cliffs of the Caux region, undermined by subterranean springs and by the waves of the English channel, slip, fall and break. They are formed of a calcareous mass containing flints. These flints fall to the bottom of the sea, where they become flat and take an oval shape. Their color is blue, spotted with brown, yellow or red stripes. They are used to manufacture concrete stone and earthenware, and their dust is even employed to make paint and rice powder imitation. Over 120,000 tons of pebbles are annually picked up on the Normandy beaches. Most of it is sent abroad.

RICHMOND CANDIDATES DECLARE FOR LOCAL OPTION

Five Who Want to Enter Legislature State Their Position Opposing Prohibition.

Richmond, Aug. 12.—State prohibition continues to be condemned by the Richmond candidates for the Legislature, as fast as they can write their replies to the queries propounded to them by S. L. Ledman and other citizens. All of those who have replied say that if elected they will vote against both a referendum on the liquor question and against a bill prohibiting intrastate shipments of liquor into dry territory.

Hay Ride to High Point.

Probably without doubt the most enjoyable event of the season for those participating was a hay ride to High Point, given last evening by Casper W. Jennings complimentary to a quintette of young ladies who are visiting in the city. The large automobile truck of C. W. Jennings and Sons was the means of locomotion used, and thus, in the most modern and up-to-date fashion, but still retaining the conventional load of fresh hay, the party took the trip in the best of spirits, touring the neighboring city of High Point, feasting on a genuine picnic supper furnished by the ladies of the party and spread in a convenient park, testing the quality of the various delicacies dispensed in the city, and returning by a beautiful glow from a full moon on an ideal night.

The score of young people returned to their homes at a very early hour Saturday morning with an unanimous voice of thanks for their generous host for the pleasant evening just spent. The party was efficiently chaperoned on the expedition by Mesdames W. T. Gayle and O. Williams. The honorees to whom the compliment was tendered were Misses Josephine Gales, of New York, and Lucy Landis, of Oxford, who are the house guests of Miss Anna Williams, on West Gaston street; Miss Juanita Alfonso, of Nutley, N. J., who is visiting Mrs. S. Glenn Brown, Summit avenue, and Miss Marjorie Lea, of Richmond, Va., the house guest of Miss Gertrude Lea, Percy street. Besides these young ladies there were present Misses Virginia Gardner, Anna Williams, Norma Stewart, and Gertrude Lea; and Roger A. McDuffie, Sidney A. Gayle, Collier Olive, W. Jehoiakim Burns the Prophet's Book. Jer. xxxvii.

Golden Text—The word of our God shall stand forever. Isa. xl:8.

(1.) Verses 1-3—What was the character of Jehoiakim?

(2.) Why is it that God bears so long and patiently with sinners, and takes such loving pains to save them?

(3.) What advantage is it to us that men like Jeremiah wrote the history of God's dealing with his people, and that we have these records in the Bible?

(4.) Who had been the kings of Judah since the death of Josiah, and what had been their characters?

(5.) Verse 4—What was the chief purpose of the Lord in commanding Jeremiah to write a book, containing what God had revealed to him, concerning the sin and the coming punishment of Judah?

(6.) Jeremiah had previously delivered these messages orally and had been tried for his life on account of it; why was it important that they should be written?

(7.) Why is it necessary that such important messages should always be written?

(8.) Verses 5-6—Why could Jeremiah not read the roll personally in the temple?

(9.) If we cannot go personally as missionaries, what is our duty in the circumstances?

(10.) Why is every Christian in duty bound to be a missionary, either in person or by proxy?

(11.) Verse 7—God was then very anxious to save these sinners from the doom they were bringing on themselves; how does he show the same anxiety to-day?

(12.) Verse 8—Which was the more meritorious in the sight of God, Jeremiah or Baruch; the man who writes a book at God's command, or the man who publishes it at his command?

(13.) Verse 9—The king, the priests and people were rebels against God, yet they proclaimed a religious fast for they were likely in great national peril. Do the prayers and fasts of the impenitent wicked, please or in suit God? Why?

(14.) Verse 10—The Salvation Army and some others take advantage of every public gathering to preach the gospel; is it or not the duty of all the Christian churches to do the same? Why?

(15.) Verses 11-19—What was the first effect of Baruch publicly reading Jeremiah's book to the people?

(16.) Which secures the more converts, the direct or the indirect result of preaching the gospel?

(17.) Verses 20-25—What effect had the reading of the book upon the great men who stood around the king, and upon the king himself?

(18.) Why did the king have the book burned?

(19.) What has been the result in all the attempts that have been made to suppress the word of God?

(20.) What is the effect of sin, long continued, upon the conscience and moral sense?

(21.) Verse 26—How is it that sometimes God hides his servants from the vengeance of their enemies, and at other times allows them to suffer?

(22.) Verses 27-32—What resulted from burning the roll?

(23.) What is always the final result of sinning against God? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

WISDOM OF THE WIDOW

DON'T LET MAN KNOW IT IF YOU CATCH HIM IN A LIE.

That is Her Philosophy Advice, but it is Forgotten When Howard's Parity is Revealed to Her by a Friend.

"If you would keep the love of any man, never let him know that you have caught him in a lie," said the widow. "If you do, he never will forgive you. It will make him uncomfortable, and to his dying day a man holds a grudge against anybody that made him uncomfortable. There is nothing that so endears a woman to a man as a trustful absorption of his choicest lies. Contravise, there is nothing that so weakens her hold on his affections as an accusation of untruthfulness backed up with undisputed truth."

"It is a pity all women cannot learn this. If they could, the divorce courts would get a chance to shut down every day on schedule time. I learned it. An aged woman who had had four husbands gave me a tip on that before I married, and I played it strong all the way through. I admit it was hard work. There came times when my common sense fairly shouted for vindication, when the pretended inability to see beyond my own nose and even to the end of it drove me to desperation; but the simulated virtue paid in the long run. My husband lived and went to his reward sustained in an unflinching faith in my stupidity. Consequently, he loved me to the end."

"I am going to manage the next one the same way. Will there be another? Oh, why didn't you know? Well, yes, I am—to Howard Miller. Oh, it hasn't been definitely settled yet. Some time in May, I believe."

The girl in blue beamed upon the widow admiringly.

"No doubt your philosophy is sound," she said, "but I never could live up to it. By the way, I suppose you had a fine time going to the theater last week."

"No," said the widow. "I didn't go at all. Howard was ill. He had to stay home from the office all last week. He wrote to me twice a day. Poor fellow, he wasn't able to get out of the house."

The girl in blue stared hard, then blinked rapidly.

"Merciful goodness!" she gasped. "Oh, dear—if this isn't what shall I do? I don't suppose I ought—yet, I must. See here, my dear," she said, with determination, "I've got to tell you something. I hate to do it, but it's my duty. Howard Miller—lied—to you. Yes, lied. He may have been ill, but he wasn't too ill to get out of the house. Why, my dear, he—he went to the theater five times last week. My brother saw him there. Five times. Just think of it!"

The widow grabbed her handkerchief and gloves.

"Let me out of here, quick," she said. "Went to the theater five times in one week, did he? And yet he wasn't able to come to see me! O-o-h, how dare he lie to me so! I'll show him! Just wait till I catch him, if I don't!"

"Prices in this country are disproportionate," said the man who has all kinds of trouble.

"You can send a letter for a two-cent stamp and it may cost you $15,000 or $20,000 to get it back."—Washington Star.

Cripples Annually Visit Church In Hope Relic Will Cure Them

Photos by American Press Association.

THOUSANDS of sufferers visited the little church of St. Jean Baptiste in East Seventy-Sixth street, New York, recently during the annual novena when the sacred relic of St. Anne was on view for nine days. The visitors went in the belief that they would be cured of the various ills from which they were suffering through the miraculous intervention of St. Anne, the mother of the Virgin Mary. The sacred relic is, according to the church authorities, a piece of the bone of the right arm of St. Anne. Legend says that after the crucifixion there was a violent persecution of all the followers of Jesus, and even the dead were not safe. To preserve it from desecration the body of St. Anne was removed from its grave in Jerusalem and was taken to Constantinople, where it remained under close guard for some years, until it was again moved to Apt, France, where it remains. One arm was removed about 710 and was taken to Rome, where it has since been guarded by Benedictine monks. The relic in the New York church came from this arm in 1892. A similar relic is kept at the church of Sts. Anne de Beaupre, twenty miles below Quebec. Marvelous cures have been reported there each year, and similar cures have been reported during the annual novena at the New York church. During the recent novena from 10,000 to 12,000 of the devout visited the shrine daily. The pictures show a group of visitors at the church and a cripple who hoped to be miraculously cured.

Cotton Mills and Tariff.

Representatives of Southern cotton mill interests appeared yesterday before the Senate Finance Committee and filed an 'emphatic protest against the drastic revision proposed in the Underwood bill.' They stated that they could no more than make such a protest, as the time permitted them to present their case was insufficient for a preparation of it. Stewart Kramer of Charlotte, representing the tariff committee of the American Manufacturers' Association, on being asked as to the effect of the high tariff on machinery in the cotton industry, blocked further inquiry as to the relief to be afforded the industry by reduction of the machinery schedules by declaring that if he were given a cotton mill he could not, under present conditions, operate it as a profit. Which, we take it, means that the cotton manufacturers not only are opposed to reduction of the tariff, but desire an increase of the duties on cotton goods. In the face of the fact that new cotton mills are being constructed—two $1,000,000 plants are being built now at Greenville—it would seem that all hope of the industry has not been abandoned by the men engaged in it. And the way the moneyed men of New England put their substance into the recent merger of mills in this State would indicate that there is some prospect of ultimate health and wealth in cotton manufacturing, though the period of depression has been unduly extended. Certainly Mr. Kramer must have lost his sense of proportion temporarily when he put the entire blame for the present unsatisfactory state of the cotton manufacturing industry on the proposed revision of the tariff. Actually the tariff has not been revised, and there is little prospect that it will be very soon. The Democrats are going to pass a bill reducing the cotton schedules, and it may get through the Senate by a coalition vote, but President Taft will almost certainly veto it, and all other tariff revision measures, and it is improbable that any of them will be enacted into law over his veto. If it is the tariff that is bothering the cotton spinners, they may rest easy enough for a year or two more, for no general reduction of tariff schedules is likely until the Democrats come into complete control of the government, which will be about March 4, 1913.

When the Democrats do get control of the government, however, it is reasonably certain that they will reduce the tariff on cotton products and all other commodities, as they have pledged themselves to do. The cotton manufacturers of the South must face that situation squarely. That is the Democratic doctrine and it can not, with any regard for good faith, be departed from. Most of the Southern spinners are Democrats themselves, who subscribe nominally, at least, to the party platforms, demanding tariff revision. If they don't believe in it, they ought to make their fight within their own party, to change the doctrine, and, if they can't change the policy of the party, they ought to join with a party that expresses their political views.

We refuse to believe, however, that the cotton manufacturers of the South, who have developed in a few years such a great industry, are prepared to confess their inability to compete in the markets of the world on equal terms with other cotton manufacturers. They have a tremendous advantage over their European rivals, in their proximity to the raw product, and their natural preference of the American people to purchase home products, if they are as good in quality as the imported article. They have, moreover, the great markets of the western continent at their doors, while the foreign manufacturers must cross the seas in order to reach them. The American cotton manufacturers have scarcely attempted to sell their goods in South and Central America. Certainly the American spinners and, especially the southern spinners, can make as good cotton products and make them as cheaply as the English or the Germans, who have to import every pound of their cotton. When it comes to selling them, it may be another matter, but that is their fault, not their misfortune. Perhaps if the American Manufacturers' Association would give more attention to the subject of freeing the Southern mills from the grip of the commission men and less to the tariff question, they might find conditions improved in their industry. They must accommodate themselves to a reduction in the tariff schedules, because the American people have determined that the tariff is a burden. They are not bound to submit to the exactions of the selling agents, nor need they neglect cultivation of the rich markets which they have not yet explored.—Charleston (S. C.) Evening Post.

DOYLE'S DRIVE IN NINTH TIED GAME WITH ANDERSON

And Eldridge's Drive in Tenth Brought in the Winning Run.

Doyle's drive for three bases in the last half of the ninth inning scored Rickard from first, and tied the score with Anderson yesterday afternoon, and Renden Eldridge made the lucky hit in the tenth that brought in Clapp and gave the Patriots the winning tally. Thus ended one of the best games seen on the local diamond this season. Score, 2 to 1.
"Deacon" Morrissey and Kull were the opposing slayers and but for two bubbles the ninth inning would have ended without a run. Kull allowed the fewer hits, but Morrissey was more effective with men on bases. A feature of the game was the number of men Morrissey caught playing off first—four Electric-ians being nabbed in this way.
Until the ninth inning only two Greensboro men had been on bases. In the third frame Rickard got a free pass and pilfered second, and in the second Lowman had got a scratch hit, but did not get on.

In the first inning W. Kelly got a free pass and was sacrificed to second, and in the sixth he got a single and was left on first. Three other Andersonians got hits before the seventh, but were caught between first and second. Kelly's men got the first run of the game in the seventh after two men were out, Yount hitting a single to Clapp who fumbled, Yount going to second. Fogarty singled and Yount scored. In the eighth and ninth there was nothing doing for Anderson.

In the last half of the ninth Eldridge went in to bat for Morrissey, but flew out to Kelly. Rickard hit a warm one to W.
Kelly, who muffed, and Rickard was safe. Then Doyle lined out one between Brannigan and Kelly for three sacks, scoring Rickard. Fuller fanned, and Doak flew out to the catcher.
It was up to Reuben to pitch the tenth.
The first man up was Fogarty, who hit and got to third, but was prevented from scoring. In Greensboro's half of the inning Clapp led off with a single. Lowman bunted prettily in Kull's hands, and was out. Carroll lined out a pretty single, advancing Clapp. Stuart hit to Fogarty and was out at first, advancing the two men on bases. Then our Ruben—no, Mr. Eldridge—came up and got a pretty single between third and second, scoring Clapp and ending the game.

The game was featured by the work of Morrissey and Kull, the fielding of Clapp, Rickard, Carroll and Fuller for the locals and Fogarty and Brannigan for the visitors.

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Monday.

Greenville at Greensboro.
Winston at Anderson.
Charlotte at Spartanburg.
Greenville comes Monday.

Baseball here first three days of the week.

Winston continues to exceed the salary limit—also the speed limit.

Brownie is not a man that can be secured at prices that the Twin City can pay and keep in the salary limit.

Should Winston come out on top all that will be necessary to knock them out of the rag is to have the salaries investigated.

Manager Doyle's drive for three sacks, scoring Rickard and tying up the game,
was easily worth a month's salary.

Reuben Eldridge is the boss pinch-hitter of the circuit. He didn't get his hit the first time he was up, but the next time he brought across the winning run.

Pitcher Hauser has been re-instated and will probably be given an early opportunity to show what sort of form he has. He underwent an operation early in the spring but has been on the bench now for a week or two.

Greenville comes here Monday for a series of three games. While the Spinners have been playing good ball since Stouch came back, the Patriots have found them easy, and more victories are expected for the locals the first of the week.

Just 18 more games in the Carolina league season—three weeks of ball playing. If the Anderson and Spartanburg games the last week are transferred here, Greensboro will have 15 of the 18 games on the local grounds. The attendance here is improving of late and if the race between Greensboro and Winston stays as close the crowds will continue to increase.

A gain of one game each week for the rest of the season on the Twins is all that is necessary to get the pennant.
The difference now is two and half games, so that a gain of three will give us a few points more than the obstre-perous sons of Clancy. It would really make it more interesting if Greensboro really cared more about winning the pennant. Having already enjoyed the sensation twice, it is no novelty.

ress of your kidney and bladder trouble and heal by removing the cause. Try

FAST FIELDING OF SPINNERS WON GAME.

Greenville, Aug. 12.—The Spinners did some fast fielding yesterday and as a result Greenville tucked the game four to two. The Hornets pounded Watson for fourteen safeties, but these netted only two runs. The Spinners got ten hits and crossed the rubber four times.

Loss of Time Means Loss of Pay.

Kidney trouble and the ills it breeds means lost time and lost pay to many a working man. M. Balent, 1214 Little Penna St., Stretcher, Ill., was so bad from kidney and bladder trouble that he could not work, but he says: "I took Foley Kidney Pills for only a short time and got entirely well and was soon able to go back to work, and am feeling well and healthier than before." Foley Kidney Pills are tonic in action, quick in results—a good friend to the working man or woman who suffers from kidney ills. Howard Gardner.

medicine. Take Foley Kidney Pills. They

Euclid was boasting of his prowess.

Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome.
Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found."
They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them.

BLEWETT'S FALLS POWER PLANT WORK IS PROGRESSING

Rockingham, Aug. 12.—H. C. Abbott has just returned from New York, where he went to consult with other officers of the Yadkin River Power Company incident to the work now going on at Blew-ett's Falls. The contract for the big steel structure at the falls has been let to the Virginia Bridge and Iron Company, of Roanoke, Va., who were the lowest bidders on the work. The contract calls for the completion of the structure by November 1, 1911, under a heavy penalty to do so. The contractors will begin at once and push the building operations to save the forfeiture.

This immense structure will contain 500 tons of steel and 1,500,000 brick.
The steel towers for the transmission lines are now almost to Jackson Springs, a distance of 18 miles. Eight miles of these lines have been completed between Carthage and Sanford, and three miles assembled to Moncure. Practically one-third of the line between the plant and Raleigh is now ready for the stringing of the wires.

Every phase of the great undertaking is going ahead rapidly and very satisfactorily, and it is fully expected that the entire work will be completed by January 1, 1912, as per the original schedule.

Many a Suffering Woman

Drags herself painfully through her daily tasks, suffering from backache, headache, nervousness, loss of appetite and poor sleep, not knowing her ills are due to kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kid-misery and a prompt return to health and strength. No woman who so suffers can afford to overlook Foley Kidney Pills. Howard Gardner.

Thirty Years Together.

Thirty years of association—think of it. How the merit of a good thing stands out in that time—or the worth-lessness of a bad one. So there's no guess work in this evidence of Thos.
Ariss, Concord, Mich., who writes: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery for 30 years, and it's the best cough and cold cure I ever used." Once it finds entrance in a home you can't pry it out. Many families have used it for forty years.
It's the most infallible throat and lung medicine on earth. Unequaled for lagrippe, asthma, hay fever, croup, quinsy or sore lungs. Price 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Fariss Klutz

It is surprising how many nice things a woman can say about her husband—after she breaks into the widow class.

More people, men and women, are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble than ever before, and each year more of them turn for quick relief and permanent benefit to Foley's Kidney Remedy, which has proven itself to be one of the most effective remedies for kidney and bladder ailments that medical science has devised. Howard Gardner.

After a man has had a small ambition gratified he is never happy until he can dig up a larger one to center his hopes on.

Hay Fever, Asthma and Summer Colds
Must be relieved quickly and Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will do it. E.
M. Stewart, 1034 Wolfram St., Chicago, writes: "I have been greatly troubled during the hot summer months with Hay Fever and find that by using Foley's Honey and Tar Compound I get great relief." Many others who suffer similarly will be glad to benefit by Mr. Stewart's experience. Howard Gardner.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear.
There is only one way to cure deafness,
and that is by constitutional remedies.
Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON ARBITRATION TREATIES IN SENATE

With Provision That Slight Amendment be Made to Article Three.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The committee on foreign relations in the Senate this afternoon authorized a favorable report upon the British and French arbitration treaties, with an amendment striking out paragraph three of article three, providing that certain disagreements between the parties to the treaties be submitted to the Hague tribunal.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations today again considered the arbitration treaties. It is probable that no action will be taken during the present session, though the treaties may be favorably reported to the Senate in their form as amended.

MORAVIANS TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY
Winston, Aug. 12.—It will be a big day for the Moravians of the city and of the whole world tomorrow. It is the anniversary of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the apostles on August 13, 1727. The occasion will be observed by the Moravians of the world in fitting manner.

There are six Moravian churches in this city. For this celebration all have been organized into one grand central organization known as the Salem Congregation. This congregation will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Home Moravian church. The first service, which will be a communicant and lovefeast, will be presided over by the venerable Bishop Rondthaler, assisted by the ministers of the various churches. The church band will make formal announcement of the glad day by the playing of chorals at the Home church and also at Christ church, Calvary and Fairview.

TEDDY ON ALASKA AGAIN

Former President Defends His Action While Chief Executive of the Nation in Opening Up Lands For Settlement.
New York, Aug. 12.—Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt has an article entitled "Alaska Again" in the current number of The Outlook. After taking issue with a newspaper statement that during the Roosevelt administration the same course had been pursued as had been pursued later in connection with Controller Bay, Mr. Roosevelt discusses some of the general phases of Alaskan development, and adds:

"The government must itself control the development of Alaska, and adopt as the guiding principle the idea of shaping that development in the interest primarily of the people as a whole, the syndicate or other developing agencies thus receiving benefit only as an incident to conferring it.

"I do not think the task is a very difficult one, if only we, the people, personally and through our representatives, approach it with this purpose clearly in mind, and if we insist that the agents of government act with an understanding of the needs of the people and a resolute purpose to see those needs accomplished, even though it be necessary to over-ride the representatives of the great interests who wish to prevent Alaskan development unless it is shaped primarily to benefit those interests."

CONFLAGRATION IN RUSSIAN VILLAGE; 28 FATALLY BURNED

Three Hundred Houses Destroyed at Kostroma--Thousands are Homeless.

Kostroma, Russia, Aug. 12.—In a conflagration which totally destroyed three hundred houses here today, twenty-eight were burned to death and fifty or more were injured, some quite severely. The flames spread to a neighboring village and wiped out two hundred houses before they could be checked. Thousands are homeless as a result of the devastation.

"I WON MY WIFE FAIRLY"

So Declares Geraghty, Who Elope With Miss French, Heiress.

Springfield, Mass., Aug. 12.—"I won my wife fairly as the result of our mutual love and I am acceptable to her, so why should I care for the opinion of her rich relatives?" said "Handsome Jack" Geraghty, who convulsed society at Newport by eloping with Julia Estelle French, heiress to millions.

Standing in the parlor of the Harris home, where they were visiting preparatory to a honeymoon trip through the Berkshires, Geraghty and his bride presented a loving picture. Holding hands in the most affectionate way, they insisted that there was no possibility of the parents or relatives of the bride instituting annulment proceedings.

"I have nothing to apologize for," continued the young bridegroom. "I have been a salesman and demonstrator for an auto company.

"I have never worked as a chauffeur, as was first stated, and I resent the implication that I stole my wife unfairly. We love each other and we are perfectly satisfied, aren't we, dear?"

"We certainly are," blushing affirmed the prepossessing bride.

J. E. Clendenin Dies at Elon College

Special to Telegram.

Elon College, Aug. 12.—A veil of sadness has settled down over the community here by reason of the death of J. E. Clendenin, which occurred at his home on Friday evening at 9 o'clock. It is true that the end had been expected since Mr. Clendenin was stricken with paralysis about two weeks ago, but he had partially regained consciousness and hope was entertained that though he might not permanently recover, he would be able to continue to live for sometime to come. On Friday morning he began to fail and the progress of the failure was rapid until the end came at the hour named above.

Mr. Clendenin is survived by his widow, who is a sister of Dr. W. W. Staley, Suffolk, Va., and five children: Mrs. Eula Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Pattie J. Bradshaw and Miss Nina Clendenin, Mr. Mack Clendenin and Mr. John Wesley Clendenin. All of these were present at his bedside together with many relatives.

Mr. Clendenin was in the employ of the Geo. W. Anthony Lumber and Machine Co., where he has for sometime held the position as mechanic, a position in which he has worked faithfully and in which he had displayed excellent talent and judgment and retained the confidence implicitly of his superiors.

The funeral will be conducted by his brother-in-law, the Rev. W. W. Staley, D. D., Suffolk, Va., and the burial will take place at the Mt. Hermon M. P. Church in Southern Alamance, the community in which Mr. Clendenin was born and the church of which he was a faithful member to the day of his death.

ORPHANS DELIGHT LARGE AUDIENCE

A large and appreciative audience at the annex of West Market Street Methodist church greeted the singing class from the Oxford Orphanage last evening. The concert was declared by many to have been the best ever given here by the class. The program included songs and recitations and it would be hard to tell which of the numbers were the most enjoyed.

This evening the class will give a concert in the auditorium of the Revolution Graded School and a large audience is scheduled to be present.

The class is composed of the following members:

Bessie Allen, Ruth Bland, Blandina Biggers, Rosa Forbes, Mary Hancock, Elizabeth Hutchens, Yvette King, Bessie Stevenson, Lillian White, Beatrice Wilson, Roscoe Franklin, Leonard Medlin, Fife Meador and Edgar Robinson.

Ebenezer Evangelical Lutheran: Divine services at Smith Memorial building, 11.15 a. m. by the pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Mennen. All are welcome.

Moravian, East Lee street, between Arlington and Asheboro streets. Sunday school 9:45. A full attendance of the school is desired and any visitors will be welcomed. No other services for the day. Preaching services next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Carleton E. White, minister.

There will be no services at the Friends' church tomorrow, but all are cordially invited to attend the Sabbath School at the usual hour.

Asheboro Street Baptist: Rev. J. H. Viperman, of High Point, will preach at both services. The pastor left today for Reidsville where he will assist in a meeting at Calvary church.

First Baptist: Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. J. Clyde Turner. Sunday school 9:30 a. m., F. P. Hobgood, superintendent.

Whitsett and participated in by the delegates who attended the Young People's Missionary Conference held in Asheville a short time ago. On Sunday, at 4 p. m. the Light Bearers will meet in the Epworth League rooms of West Market Street M. E. church. Mrs. L. H. Martin will be there to tell about life in India, and will illustrate her talk by living pictures. Light Bearers are asked to bring their friends with them.

Notice.
The Pastor's Auxiliary Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its regular monthly business meeting in the Memorial building on Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Special League Meeting.
A very interesting program has been prepared for the Epworth League, Monday night, at West Market Street church. The West Market Baraca club will have charge of the exercises and all Baracas and Philatheas in the city are most cordially invited to attend.

Dr. J. S. Betts will make a short talk on "What the West Market Baraca Class Has Done, and What It Can Do." His knowledge of the work will enable him to make a most interesting talk. Miss Flossie A. Byrd, the State secretary of the Baracas and Philatheas, will make a ten minutes talk on "What the State Baracas are Doing and What They Can Do." Miss Byrd is a most earnest speaker.

Special musical numbers have been prepared, and it is hoped that a large number of the young people of the city will be on hand at eight o'clock and spend a pleasant hour with the leaguers.

Special Service at Spring Garden Methodist Church.

The interdenominational delegation that attended the Young People's Missionary Conference at Asheville, has been holding a number of interesting meetings in the various churches in Greensboro since returning. They have been pronounced very fine meetings by those who have had the pleasure of attending them. These delegates, led by Mrs. G. W. Whitsett, will carry out their interesting program at Spring Garden Street Methodist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, this being young people's missionary day at that church. It is indeed a splendid plan of the Young People's Missionary Committee of this church to have one day set apart for the young people of the church upon whom depend so largely the work of carrying out the evangelization of the world. A large attendance is expected at this special service.
